Hello Leaders!

If you are reading this manual, it is because you are interested in starting or reactivating a NAACP Chapter. It means you are taking the responsibility seriously to mobilize, train leaders in a collective to win real victories that improve people’s lives.

The NAACP has a rich history in civil rights and organizing, but more importantly today we are still the most extensive and most rooted Association of leaders across the country. In almost every city in this country an NAACP chapter exists. The power we have is in the volunteer leaders and organizers, like yourself. We believe in people power, and that will always be our superpower in the fight for social, economic and racial justice.

Starting a chapter is easy, but it requires discipline. We’ve created an updated, user-friendly manual for you. This manual is organized into two sections, “Chartering” and then “Reactivating a Unit.” We’ve created step by step clear instructions and provided examples and templates for your convenience but if you ever have any questions feel free to contact National Field Organizer, Derrick Lewis II at dlewis@naacpnet.org. We are here to support your growth and vision for a stronger and better NAACP and America.

Best,

NAACP Youth and College Division, National Staff
